EIGHT AND EIGHT JAPAN'S SLOGAN

Signifies Eight Battleships and Eight Battle
Cruisers.

Also After Eight Years Service Vessels Pass to Second Class.

Tokio—Japan's present naval program, which says officials, will be completed whatever may be arranged with foreign powers as to future curtailment means more than the completion of the so-called eight and eight units. The phrase "eight and eight" signifies, according to the official view here, that Japan will build until she has eight first class battleships and eight first class battle cruisers, but also signifies another "eight," namely, that when one of the above sixteen units reaches the age of eight years, that unit passes to the second class, to be replaced immediately by a new ship of the latest design. It is pointed out that Japan's future navy, as at present outlined, will have sixteen first class fighting ships of the latest construction as well as numerous ships of the second line to which the warships now building will fall when a period of eight years makes substitution necessary. Hence, adherence to the "eight and eight" plan means constant building and constant big expenditure. It is this continuing outlay to which erminister Yukio Ozaki takes objection on the ground that the budget involved will prove disastrous to his country.

A comparison of the strength of the navies of Japan and the United States shows, according to the view held here, that in 1921 Japan will have one fewer major ships, two more light cruisers, 220 fewer destroyers and even fewer submarines than the United States. By the end of 1923, if the programs of the respective countries are carried out, the United States will lead Japan by sixteen in major warships. Japan will have 231 more destroyers and 24 more submarines, but on the other hand the American light cruisers will fall behind Japan's to the number of three. By the end of 1923 Japan will have two fewer big ships, three more light cruisers and 47 fewer destroyers. Japan is, however, devoting herself to sub-marines and it is expected that by 1927 she will beat the United States in submarines to the number of 32.

If the United States does not start a new program after 1923 (either replacing old ships transferred to the "second line" or augmenting her fleet) Japan it is held here, after big expenditures and continuous building at her maximum capacity, will in 1927 only be in practically the same relative position as she is today, 1921.

If, on the other hand, the United States, after 1923 adopts a new building program of only replacing the ships going into the "second line" while the old ships are being scrapped, she is degraded as not only a reasonable assumption, but almost a certainty, then, it is the contention here, that Japan in 1927, will occupy the same relatively weak position that she will have in 1923.

Those favoring Japan's entering an international restriction agreement express the opinion that Japan's plans are laid without any thought of the United States policy after 1923. And further, that if Japan seriously contemplates or desired disarmament for herself she would take the lead in trying to force the world to accept it, immediately, rather than sit back and permit the United States and Great Britain to take the initiative.

Appearances here indicate that Japan is doing everything to expedite her building programme. Admiral Kato, the minister of marine, recently told the Diet that the following in England of the principle of the division of work made it possible to build more quickly and at the minimum expense.

Heretofore, it has been the policy of the Japanese navy to make each navy yard as complete a unit as possible, capable of doing all manner of work. When the policy of rapid naval expansion was adopted it was found that such yards were not capable of quick expansion. In the meantime, private manufacturing facilities have developed to such an extent that the navy can now depend on some of them to supply much of its required materials. It therefore is considered probable here that the British policy cited by the minister of the navy has been adopted by the Japanese navy department.

The almost simultaneous establishment of the new naval gun factories at Hiro and Sasebo, the naval arsenal in Sunokai, which includes 800 acres of land, the Mitsubishi torpedo factory near Nagasaki, the airplane factories of Nagoya and Sasebo, the development of the ordnance section of the Muroan Steel Works and numerous other small projects are believed to show, in addition to a haste in increasing armaments a permanent rearrangement and division of work that will the future be capable of still greater expansion without confusion or disorganization.

Japan has now five super-dreadnaughts less than nine years of age, namely, the Fusu, Yamashiro, Ise, Hyuga and Nagato. In 1922, under the age limit policy, the Fusu will fall into second line, but the new super-dreadnaughts Mutsu, Kaga and Tosa will be in commission making a total of seven dreadnaughts. In 1927, the Yamashiro, Ise and Hyuga will go into the second line, but it is expected that four others will have been completed, so the total will be eight.

In powerful battle-cruisers, Japan has strength superior to that of the United States. The Kongo, Hiyu, Haruna and Kishima are all under nine years of age. By 1922 all four are scheduled to withdraw to the second line defense, but the projected battle-cruisers Amagi and Akagi are expected to be placed in commission by that year. By 1927, six new battle-cruisers are expected to be added, making a total of eight.

In addition to pushing this continuous building program it is understood that Japan is turning out submarines as fast as possible, realizing that underwater craft, best adapted to the defense of her Empire which is composed of so many islands and believing that, finding shelter as they can in the rocky inlets, they will offer a serious menace to ships advancing to attack in the dangerous channels that surround the Nippon coast line.

Japan realizes that she is weak in aviation and is exerting herself to train capable airmen as well as to build high-grade aeroplanes and hydroplanes.

KILLS MOUNTAIN LION.
Cougars, when hungry, will sometimes tackle a porcupine for a meal, and always with the result of sticking the mucous membrane of the mouth full of quills, from the wounds of which death is almost sure to ensue, writes Dr. R. W. Schufeldt in the American Forestry Magazine. When I was with an expedition in the Big Horn Mountains, a fine mountain lion was found dead; upon examination it was soon ascertained that it had been the victim of an experience of this kind.

LECTURE NO. 65. The Ford Clutch.

The Ford Clutch is a Disc Clutch and differs but little from the disc clutches used in cars which are equipped with sliding gear transmission.

You will recall that in the cars equipped with sliding-gear transmission and disc clutch, that the clutch was built into the flywheel of the engine and that it was the next unit after it. This is not the case in the Ford car, as, in it the Magneto and Transmission are placed between the engine and the clutch.

Figure 1 shows the transmission. You will remember that the drum (L) is connected to the rear wheel by means of the driving plate (M). In the inside of this drum (L) has fastened to it a number of keys as shown in Fig. 2, lettered (A), and if another drum, (N) Figs. 1 and 2 having keyways on its outside, as (B) Fig. 2, fastened to the engine driven shaft (H) then all that will be necessary to make a disc clutch will be to have two sets of discs one fitting into the keys of the brake or driven drum (N) and another, alternating set, having keys which fit into the keyways on the driving drum (L). The discs are shown in Fig. 1, the driving discs being lettered (B) and the driven discs (S).

Like all clutches, the discs are pressed together by a spring, and the pressure is taken off the discs by means of a foot pedal. In the Ford car, however, a hand lever is also used to take the pressure of the spring off the discs, so that the clutch can be disengaged by pressing down on the foot pedal or by pulling on the lever. This lever applies the emergency brake.

Let us see how the spring is used to press the discs together, and how the pressure of it is taken off the discs.

Figure 3 shows what is called the clutch push ring. This is set against the discs, while the pins on it pass through holes in the driving plate (M). If we can devise some means for exerting a pressure on these pins, then the discs will be pressed together and because of the friction between their surfaces they will hold so firmly that they will move as though they were one piece. Thus the drum (L) will be driven from the drum (N), which in turn being attached to the shaft (H) is driven from the engine. As the drum (L) is attached to the driving plate (M), which is connected to the rear wheels through the proper shafts, etc., the drive from the engine will be direct, no transmission gears being brought into the drive.

In order to have the pressure of the spring exerted on the pins of the push plate, hinged levers are fastened to the driving plate, the middle portion of which press against the pins, while the free ends are held in a collar. This collar is pressed forward by a spring. Figure 4 shows the spring, the collar (J) and the levers. You will note that the spring operates is a double collar, one collar acting on the levers and a throwing fork being placed in the other. This throwing fork is operated by the foot pedal or by the emergency brake lever. The fork is shown in the illustration lettered K.

With sliding-gear transmissions, when the car is stopped at the curb with the engine running, the gears are brought to neutral, and the clutch is allowed to remain in the engaged position. With the Ford transmission, there are no gears to be brought to neutral, the engine and rear wheels always being connected when the clutch is engaged. For this reason, some device in addition to the foot pedal must be furnished which will hold the clutch out when the car is standing still and the engine running. Thus the lever, which can be locked, is required in addition to the pedal.

Both the pedal and lever act on the single throw-out fork. How this is accomplished is shown in Fig. 5. You will observe that when the foot pedal is depressed, that the link (T) will operate on the arm (U) in such a manner

OBITUARY

Sarah Jane Walcott.
Mrs. Sarah Jane Walcott died Friday at midnight at the City Hospital. She was 79 years of age and had been in ill health and was taken to the hospital on last Tuesday from the home of her grand daughter Mrs. Harry T. Cochran 219 North Gay street. Death was due to a complication of ailments.

Surviving are three grandchildren, Mark A. McKel, Mrs. Harry T. Cochran and Mrs. Luther Carter and eight great grand children.

The body was taken by Criss Brothers to the home of Mrs. Cochran in Gay street and funeral services will be held Monday afternoon at 2 o'clock in the home. Burial will be made in Cedar Hill cemetery.

Nelson T. Shiplet.
Nelson Tremble Shiplet, aged 89 years, a farmer died this morning at 4 o'clock at his home south of Gratiot, of complications.

He was born, March 26, 1832 and was the son of David R. and Betsey E. Shiplet. On June 7, 1857 he was married to Amy Hughes. To this union eleven children were born.

Surviving are Mrs. Ella Wharton of Mt. Sterling, Mrs. Emma Simpson of Enid, Oklahoma, Mrs. Mary Hursey of White Cottage, Mrs. Kate Ray of Seattle, Washington, Mrs. Lueta Martin of Columbus, Welcome of the home, Axie Hall of Belleville, Illinois, Mrs. Nettie Van Allen of Columbus, and Eddie of White Cottage. Two brothers, Charles and LeRoy of White Cottage and one sister Mrs. Elizabeth Chapman of Gratiot, thirty-five grandchildren, and twenty-six great grandchildren also survive.

The deceased became a member of the Asbury M. E. church in early manhood.

Funeral services will be held Tuesday afternoon in the Mt. Sterling church. The cortege will leave the home at 1 o'clock. The pastor Rev. Elrod will officiate at the services.

Mark R. McClelland.
Funeral services for Mark R. McClelland who died Friday morning will be held Sunday afternoon at 1 o'clock in the home of the late Rev. C. G. Hazlett will officiate and the cortege will drive to Zanesville where burial will be made.

Mrs. Gilford Miner.
The funeral of Mrs. Gilford Miner who died Friday morning will be held Monday morning at 10:30 o'clock eastern time in the Hanover Methodist church and burial will be made in Hanover cemetery.

Infant's Burial.
Burial of Cary J. Lambert the infant son of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Lambert 340 Ohio street, will be made Sunday morning in Frazeysburg. The child died Friday afternoon, eight hours after birth.

William H. Baker.
Funeral services for William H. Baker who died Thursday evening, were held this morning at 10 o'clock in the home in Manning street and burial was made in Oak Grove cemetery in Delaware.

James M. Carson.
The funeral of James M. Carson was held this afternoon at 1:30 o'clock in the Jacksonville Methodist church. Rev. Mr. Larson officiated and burial was made in Fairmount cemetery.

Mrs. Rachel Pound.
The funeral of Mrs. Rachel Pound, who died Wednesday night at her home in St. Louisville, will be held Sunday morning at 11 o'clock in the Wilkins Corners church and burial will be made in Barnes cemetery.

MOST IRISH FARMERS HAVE KIN IN AMERICA.
It is hard to find an Irish farmer that hasn't a relative somewhere in the United States.

So says E. M. Newman, travel lecturer, who recently returned from a trip to Ireland to collect material for an article published in this month's issue of The Mentor Magazine.

The tumble-down shack of yesterday has gone from the Irish countryside, Newman says. Now there are neat cottages bordered with flower beds. The war created a demand for the Irish farmer's products and now he is prosperous for the first time in years.

MONOCLE IS LATEST IN GOLF TOGGERY

Miss Heather Thatcher.

Apparently the single-barreled eyeglass is the proper thing for golf, at least if the camera does not lie, that is the conclusion one must draw. Here Miss Heather Thatcher, well known British actress, is shown playing in the stage golfing society's tournament at Le Touquet golf club.

SOCIAL AFFAIRS

Rev. Father Ruane, assistant pastor of St. Francis de Sales church read the double ring service for the marriage of Miss Marguerite Swern and Mr. Paul Ginter at 11 o'clock this morning at the parish house of St. Francis de Sales church.

The bride wore a suit of blue peridot with hat, blouse and shoes of gray. Her bouquet was a corsage of orchids, lavender and white sweet peas and sunburst roses. She was attended by her sister Miss Eva Swern who wore a blue suit, with a hat of black and white. The bride's maid's corsage was of coral sweet peas and violets. Mr. Ginter's attendant was Mr. Karl Kuster.

Immediately after the ceremony Mr. and Mrs. Ginter left for Mansfield, Massillon and Akron. They will be at home after May 1 in 23 East Oak street.

The bride is the daughter of Mrs. H. O. Swern of North Cedar street and has been secretary-treasurer for the Reinhold Construction company. Mr. Ginter is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Ginter of North street, and is traveling representative for the American Bottle company.

The Independent Circle was delightfully entertained at the home of Mrs. Ankele in Second street Friday afternoon with fourteen members present. Interesting readings were given by Mrs. Dora Hedrick, Mrs. John Gallagher and Miss Louise Andrews. Mrs. Mary Cramshaw was awarded the club prize. A delicious two course luncheon was served.

On Tuesday evening a number of friends gathered at the home of "Grandma" Proctor, 60 North Morris street, to surprise her, on her eighty-seventh birthday anniversary. The surprise was a great success, "Grandma" having decided earlier in the evening, that her friends had forgotten it was her birthday. She was remembered with some very beautiful and useful gifts.

Refreshments were served the following guests: Mesdames C. P. Taylor, Oscar Deck, Fred Taylor, T. M. Tyrrell, Lester Nutter, O. P. Dorn, Nettie Hall, Lee Courson, Clegg, E. Ford, P. E. Wright, George Gauschaw, Selmer, William Howey, E. C. Copper, Moore, Pugh, E. Johnson, Misses Margaret Moore, Eva Ford, Ruth Denman, Opal Wright, Sanoma Deck, Rev. P. E. Wright and son Elmer and Mr. Fred Taylor.

Wednesday afternoon the members of the E. O. U. Sewing circle were delightfully entertained at the home of Mrs. Frank Dugan in Fairview avenue. The few hours were spent in sewing. Mrs. Mont Orr and Mrs. Ira Snare carried the homing in the contest. Late in the afternoon a dainty luncheon was served by the hostess.

Mrs. Charles Gomerding was pleasantly surprised Wednesday evening at her home in Indiana street. The evening was spent in music, dancing and contests the prizes being awarded to Mrs. Charles Fattier and Mrs. C. J. Pryor.

A two-course luncheon was served the following: Mesdames Florence Love, Harry Mar, August Brooks, J. C. Atherton, D. E. Rainey, E. R. Carter, Virgil Aschcraft, A. H. Montgomery, A. E. Piercatt, Margaret Kretz, Claude Ruff, S. E. Spitzer, A. Laird, J. W. Patterson, G. A. Wolford, Edith Ayres, C. J. Pryor, J. F. Stroud, Ed. Hollister, Charles Fattier, W. O. Davis, Miss Esther Martin, Pauline Rainey, Virginia Aschcraft, Sarah Ruff, Margaret and Oliva Gomerding, Eleanor Pryor, Robert Rainey, Harold Montgomery, Norman Ruff, Don Wolford and Glen Pryor.

The Golden Rule Sunday school class of the East Main Street U. B. church was entertained at a luncheon at the home of Mrs. L. M. Straw of 60 Linden avenue, Thursday. The luncheon was one of the monthly entertainments of the class.

The following members were present: Mr. Acton, Mesdames Acton, Andrews, Burkam, Braden, Cullison, Copper, Devillier, Earler, Elder, Hall, Gearhart, Hurlburt, Hartman, Hilgery, Howey, James, McClade, Mathews, Pugh, Proctor, Siceen, Straw, Tomelson, Varner, Warner, Williams, Jones, Laughman, Offenbaker, Patterson, Westbrook. Guests of Mrs. Straw from the Neal Avenue M. E. church were: Misses Cunningham, Atherton, Mrs. Lawyer, Miss Ruth Lawyer, Mrs. Evans, Mrs. E. K. Johnson, Miss Leora Jones, Mrs. Robinson.

Mrs. F. A. Fletcher was hostess to the members of the Entre Nous club at her home in Mill street on Thursday evening. During the business session Mrs. Rudolph Schenk was taken into membership. The hours were spent in games and contests and the prizes were awarded Mrs. Charles Freas, Mrs. Roy Litzinger and Mrs. George Stinger. Refreshments were served the members and following guests: Mrs. Clarence James, Mrs. George Stinger, Mrs. M. D. Schenk and Mrs. Dornier Hobbs. The next meeting will be at the home of Mrs. Charles Fattier in Allen street.

Miss Maxine Davis, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. L. L. Davis of Hudson avenue was one of a group of pretty college girls, members of the senior class at St. Mary-of-the-Woods at Terre Haute, to visit Washington. The girls are there for a two week's study of the national government at close range. They were received by President Harding. The girls were accompanied by Mrs. Raymond C. Miller of Washington. The President had paid a special visit to St. Mary's to visit the daughter of a personal friend, and recalled it "as one of the most delightful spots I ever visited."

The Washington papers in telling of the visit said "the newspaper photographers and movie operators recognized the St. Mary's students as the most attractive girls who have visited the White House and they worked overtime in getting their pictures. They were guests at a hop at the Annapolis naval academy. They will also be guests at a tea at the army and navy club and at the French embassy."

FOR OILING SPRINGS.
A simple means of keeping car springs supplied with lubricant may be devised from a small copper tube and part of a roll of electrician's tape. Bend an elbow in one end of a copper tube eight or ten inches long, and flatten the rest of the tube so that it will fit snugly against the side of the spring. Drill holes in the tube at short intervals and then tape it securely to the spring. Thereafter the leaves may be kept lubricated by pouring oil periodically into the tube. The device has the objection, however, that the tape will wear from spring flexion and must be renewed occasionally.—in April Motor.

Misses Cora Roach and Agnes McLain entertained Friday evening at their home in South Second street for Mrs. Clifford Wagner and Mrs. Marie Raush, who leave Sunday to make their home in Fargo, North Dakota.

ENGLISH MAIDENS ARE ALREADY DEPORTING ON BEACHES

Photographs show two fair young English bathers enjoying a game of chess between dips and, below, two others enjoying a little rope jumping for exercise.

English folk are able to enjoy the bathing season long before the people of this country. They begin to get their dips Easter and continue right into November. These snapshots were taken at the opening of the season at Margate Beach, England. The

PERSONAL

Warner Simmons of Johnstown, expects to leave for Green Cove Springs, Florida, soon to take up his residence on Walkhill Farms.

Mrs. Robert Jacoby, daughter Miss Mary Ellen Robert Jr., and Louise Margery of Jackson City, Ill., are the guests of Mrs. Jacoby's sister, Mrs. Mary Stiles in South Third street.

C. D. Nutter who has been seriously ill is now able to be up and about his home in West Harrison street. Mr. and Mrs. Charles L. Kurtz of Columbus, were guests on Friday of Mr. and Mrs. D. V. Bay of 21st street. Mrs. A. E. Blake of Chicago has been the guest for a week of Mr. and Mrs. O. H. Neibarger and Susie Wolfe of 97 Oakwood avenue.

Our Boys and Girls

The average girl stops growing between the ages of eighteen and twenty, though some reach their full height after they are twenty. It is not natural for all to be tall, but if anything will make one grow more rapidly, plenty of outdoor exercise that is not the vigorous, plenty of rest and simple, nourishing food, will add to their height.

Practice the following exercise in your room each morning. Stand with the feet close together and raise the hands above the head, stretching the tips of the fingers as far toward the ceiling as possible. Then bring the arms forward and downward without bending the knees and try to touch the fingers to the floor. You will probably not be able to do this the first time, but with a little practice you will succeed. Repeat the exercise six times at first, increasing the number as you become accustomed to the movement.

The day the milliners asked Pearl White, the movie star, to act as model for the Paris hats was a bit chilly hence the wonderful mink coat. But it is the Josephine mink coat, worn by Marie Lancret, which you would notice for it is of Italian Milan straw with wreath of satin wild roses half hidden between two narrow brims of tulle.

FOULARDS ARE NEW FOR SPRING WEAR

A dainty lingerie collar finishes the bodice and the tunic is cut in points and trimmed with an edging of narrow ribbon.

Milady's Boudoir

Beauty in Sleep.
If you have a sleepless restless night right you will have a nervous irritable day after it. Unless there is some particular reason for it no one should find difficulty in obtaining eight or nine hours of restful sleep each night. A glass of warm milk or hot cocoa, drunk at night just before going to bed is very soothing to the nerves and sometimes serves as a definite sleeping portion. An empty stomach sometimes causes sleeplessness. Keeping the feet warm at night is another remedy that is free to all. It does not require much knowledge for a person to know if the feet are cold the blood must be up in the head and, therefore, one cannot get to sleep.

In extreme cases of wakefulness it is often a good thing to take a hot foot bath just before going to bed. Then the feet, if rubbed afterward with turpentine, will feel warm and have a pleasant tingle.

As to the bath, it cannot be given too much importance where the health and comfort of particularly, an enfeebled person is concerned. It is absolutely necessary to keep the pores of the skin open for the nerves to be soothed, as the greater part of the body breathing is done through them. If a hot bath at night promotes wakefulness, as it sometimes does, it had better be taken in the daytime, but if it can be taken at night and it acts as a soother to the nerves, it will tend to make the night's sleep more restful.

Everyday Etiquette

"Is there any form that a man should follow when he is introduced to a lady?" asked George. "There is no form," said the woman, "but she intends to do. The man should not offer his hand first, unless he is a much older person," said her mother.

It is better to give than to receive, but some presents are quite superfluous. There is the gift of gab, for instance.

WITH THE OHIO CLUB WOMEN

MRS. GEO. ELLIOTT M'CONNICK

Ohio's Oldest Club Woman.

Eighty-seven years old but still an active club woman is Mrs. Anne M. Hobson, Athens. As a delegate to the annual convention of the Southeast district at Logan April 7 and 8, she gave the report of her city federation. All delegates were allowed three minutes in which to make verbal reports. Mrs. Hobson taking all the time allotted in a speech that surprised her hearers into the closest attention because of the marked liveliness of one so advanced in years and because of the steady tone of voice that made it easy for all to understand what she was saying. Mrs. Hobson was telling about the club women in Ohio, but it is believed that she may rightfully claim that title for the Middle West as well. She was the big attraction of the Logan convention, which was a notable success. The old Indian town itself furnished a most picturesque setting for the district gathering and the hospitality extended was truly wonderful, according to sentiment voiced by every delegate in attendance. Logan has but two federated clubs. These are the Tourists and Saturday clubs with a total membership of forty. Mrs. F. A. Sosman, Chillicothe, vice president of the district, planned a program calculated to bring all the departments of the state federation into a "close-up" review and in this she succeeded admirably. Mrs. W. H. Sharp, Columbus, president of the Ohio Federation of Women's Clubs, was particularly well pleased with the entire meeting. She delivered her annual message Thursday afternoon at the First M. E. church and was followed by the various department heads, including Mrs. Genevieve R. Cline, Cleveland; legislative Mrs. J. L. Selby, Greenville; loan scholarship, Mrs. John MacKee, Springfield, art, Mrs. Elmer J. Lawrence, Cincinnati, civics, and Mrs. Lyle S. Evans, Chillicothe, conservation.

Twilight musical was a delightful convention feature. A comedy written by Mrs. W. C. Brushares, Logan, and produced by members of the Tourists and Saturday clubs.

The Logan conference endorsed bills calling for better moving pictures and starning of broad showing in weight of the loaf. Each delegate carried home a souvenir from the Logan pottery.

Ohio Federation History.
Miss Annie Laws, No. 2927 Reading road, Cincinnati, one of the best-known club women in the state, is going to write a history of the Ohio Federation of Women's Clubs. This important assignment could not have been placed in more capable hands, for perhaps no club woman in Ohio has a finer grasp of club affairs. But to compile a history such as Miss Laws is to write it will be necessary for all club women who can to lend a willing hand to the federation's state historian. Miss Laws wants annual reports of the second convention in Cleveland in 1896, ninth convention in Columbus in 1903, eighteenth convention in Chillicothe in 1912, nineteenth convention in Youngstown in 1914 and directories for 1913-14, 1914-15 and 1916-17. These reports and directories are necessary for the compiling of the history and club women having them should promptly forward them to Miss Laws, or club women not having the desired material but having knowledge of how to get it should get into communication with the librarian of the state federation.

IRISH BISHOP FIRST TO KISS THE BLARNEY STONE

Cormack McCarthy, Irish patriot and bishop, was the first man to kiss the blarney stone according to legend. McCarthy, the story goes, rescued an old woman from drowning shortly after he had finished building Blarney Castle. She directed him to kiss the stone in the tower. He did so and became so eloquent that neither foe nor friend could resist his eloquence afterward.

This and other Irish legends are told of by Dwight Elmendorf, travel lecturer, in the April number of The Mentor Magazine.

"ACE" OF WESTERN DRAMA
SHOWS FLASHING WIT.
Heart interest, suspense and drama are the outstanding features of "The Freeze Out" which will attract playgoers to the Auditorium theater next Sunday when the Universal production is given its final local showing with Harry Carey in the starring role. The Ace of the Western drama finds crooked community and the cooperation of a big stranger with a cheery smile who rides into camp to open another gambling house, is, in brief, the theme of the story.

Scintillating bits of comedy relieve the tense drama at intervals and give variety to a story which moves swiftly through a series of engrossing and powerful situations.
Sparkling photography, unusual lighting effects and good direction enhance the dramatic value of the story and will make "The Freeze Out" pleasing to those thousands who regard Harry Carey as the screen's foremost exponent of the out-of-doors.

NEW FOX FARCE DUE
WITH EILEEN PERCY.
"Why Trust Your Husband," a William Fox production starring the beautiful Eileen Percy, will be seen for the first time here at the Alhambra theater Sunday for one day's run.
It has been in fast and furious farce comedy that Miss Percy has gained enviable success and great popularity the wives follow their spouses to the ball that the action reaches the peak of hilarity.

The picture is said to abound with high spirit and mirth-provoking situations, and to be capably acted by a supporting cast of well-known fareures.

METRO STARS NEW
"THE BEST YET" FILM IS TRIUMPH.
At least one person present at the showing of Mal Allison's latest starring vehicle, "Are All Men Alike" at the Alhambra theater yesterday afternoon and the manner in which the audience received this most recent Metro picture starring irresistible May Allison proved that there were others who thought so too.
Perhaps what makes the picture the best, aside from the appeal of Miss Allison in a thoroughly novel and delightful role, is the fascinating story of the picture, which depicts a rich young girl obsessed by the desire to live a Bohemian life among Bohemian people. In spite of family remonstrances she takes up her quarters in Greenwich Village, and there proceeds to learn some things about men that were never printed in her private school books.

"Teddy" Hayden, who is the girl that Miss Allison portrays with such delightful artistry, rents a studio in New York's Greenwich Village and there enters into the life of the Bohemian folk like one to the manner born. From the start "Teddy" captures the interest of every long-haired poet and artist within hail, and her effort to escape their amorous advances provides the story with some of its best moments. In the end, however, she renounces her ideas of rampant feminism, and decides to become an old-fashioned wife.
The production is superbly mounted, and an excellent cast supports Miss Allison, including Wallace McDonald, John Elliott and Ruth Stonehouse. A P. Younger adapted the picture from Arthur Steiner's novel, "The Waffle Iron." Philip E. Rosen directed the production and Ben Ball photographed it.

COULD YOU SPEND A MILLION IN A YEAR?
Could you spend a million dollars in one year, and come out at the end of that time flat broke, with no assets, and no wife to help you spend it? This is no easy task, as Fatty Arbuckle, noted comedian, proves in his latest Paramount picture, "Brewster's Millions," which will be shown at the Auditorium theater next Monday and for three days. The picture is an adaptation of the widely read novel of the same title by George Barr McCutcheon, and the famous play by Melville Stone and Winchell Smith. Mr. Arbuckle plays the role of Monte Brewster, fatherless, with two wealthy grandfathers. One of the grandfathers is an aristocrat and the other a self-made man. Each wants the boy reared in his own way. When Monte is twenty-five, grandfather Brewster gives him one million dollars. Grandfather Ingraham comes back with a proposition to Monte that if he will spend Brewster's million in one year, he will give him five million in stock. From this grows one of the funniest and fastest plots that has even been put on the screen.

Walter Woods adapted the picture from the book and play and Joseph

He and Hal E. Roach, who produces the Harold Lloyd comedies, went to Princeton to see Princeton kick the ball with Harvard. Both Lloyd and Roach are great sport fans and enjoyed the game with a hundred per cent brand of enthusiasm, which, however, lost much of its strength when the driver of the taxi they hired to take them back to New York lost his way.
The journey that should have taken three hours took five and a half and "From Hand to Mouth," the newest Roach-Pathe comedy starring the inimitable Harold Lloyd is coming to the Grand theater as a feature of their program for three days commencing Monday.

AN EXPENSIVE VIEW BUT WORTH WHILE.
Harold Lloyd recently made his second trip to New York. As his first visit to the metropolis covered only three days, this trip was the first opportunity he had to really get acquainted with the Big Town and this he did with the zest of a school boy on a holiday.
Theaters occupied most of his time.

a new type of starring vehicle in "The Freeze Out." Throughout the five reels he has an opportunity to demonstrate his mastery of subtle drama and flashing wit.

George Hull wrote the original story and Jack Ford, who has produced many of the Carey successes, directed the filming.

Heading the supporting cast will be seen Helen Ferguson, the capable dramatic actress who was a feature of "The Mutiny of the Elsham" and other productions of similar magnitude. There will also be seen such well-regarded screen players as Joe Harris, J. Farrell McDonald, Charles La Moine, Lydia Yeamans Titus and many others.

as the leading conscience of the screen and it will be an original factor that she will be seen at this coming engagement.

"Why Trust Your Husband" is from the pens of George H. Marshall and Paul Caplan, and is described as a merry tale of matrimonial life. The fun starts when one of the two husbands in the story drops an invitation to a masquerade ball and this falls into the hands of the two wives. It is when

"SO LONG LETTY" IS

SMASHING SUCCESS.

A crashing smash hit, "So Long Letty," the Robertson-Cole super-special which is the hit at the Auditorium theater today. For excellence of cast, fine settings and really humorous comedy situations, this production is one of the best of the season's offerings. At Christie, the famous comedy-drama producer, is responsible for the screen adaptation of "So Long Letty." The results of his efforts place the film version above the Oliver Morosco stage production which made such a wonderful hit from coast to coast.

While the story of "Letty" carries itself, Mr. Christie has further enhanced the value of the picture by the selection of an extraordinary fine cast. Here and there are a number of water scenes. Never before has the old Pacific Ocean been so picturesquely adorned with the female form divine. And the bathing suits. Oh Lady, Lady!

The opening of "So Long Letty" finds two newly married couples—the Robbins and the Millers—residing in adjoining bungalows in a select colony just out side of San Francisco. Harry Miller likes the word "secluded" in all forms while his wife Gracie is strong for glingham gowns, home cooking and Markham works himself into the confidence of the crooks and at the moment rounds up the entire gang.

Fritz Brunette, the winning little lady who played opposite Kerrigan in "The Lord Loves the Irish," "Live Sparks" and "The Green Flame," is her usual charming self in the feminine lead. She takes the role of a resourceful young newspaperwoman who sets out to gather material for a story on valuable jewels and finds herself drawn into a bewildering maze of adventure.

Chaire Du Bray, one of the cleverest dramatic actresses in pictures gives a flawless performance as "Lou Termaine," the conniving cabaret queen. Jay Morley plays the blundering, boob detective with his familiar skill and Edwin Wallock is convincingly villainous as "Roger Inlay," the crafty accomplice of the jewels thieves.

knitting. Tommy Robbins loves his fireside and home cooked victuals but Letty, his wife, has a penchant for Paris gowns, ukeleles and jazz in general. It is a sad mixup.

Gracie and Letty are duly advised of the decision and asked their opinions. They go into secret conference only to return with the ultimatum that they are agreeable on the condition that the swapping scheme be given a week's trial before legal action begins.

EXCELLENT CAST WITH KERRIGAN, "THE GREEN FLAME"

The most pleasing feature of J. Warren Kerrigan's latest Brunton production, "The Green Flame," released by W. W. Hodgkinson and coming Sunday to the Grand theater, is the excellence of its cast. Kerrigan is supported in this picture by a group of the most talented and popular players on the screen.

The star himself cleverly portrays the role of "Frank Markham," an adventurous young detective. He is engaged by the head of a large jewelry concern to guard "The Green Flame," a priceless emerald which was at one time a Russian crown jewel. A notorious clique of gem thieves launch a daring plot to secure the "Flame," pretending to be a guileless country yokel and America. This is the first film made by Miss Frederick for Robertson-Cole and critics agree that it is one of the best vehicles she has ever appeared in either on the stage or on the screen.

In the early part of the story Miss Frederick is seen as a beautiful young widow, surfeited with luxuries and the toast of many admirers. At the height of her social career comes the financial crash which leaves her absolutely penniless. She is forced to choose between a man whom she does not love, but who can give her all the riches to which she has been accustomed, and a man who has nothing to offer but himself.

Miss Frederick, by her sheer artistry, paints a vivid picture of a woman who is rescued from her own selfishness by the divine spark of love. Almost important of all, however, is the manner in which the star catches the spirit of what Sir Arthur Wing Pinero meant to convey to the public through the medium of the play.

The sudden transition from riches to poverty, with the accompanying mental struggle of a woman suddenly thrown on her own resources and then forced to choose between that which would give back the old life or continuing in a new and dreaded world, is quite sufficient to tax the histrionic ability of any actress. Miss Frederick, however, by dint of her ability to wrap herself in any role which she happens to be portraying, gives a dazzling performance and adds new laurels to her

GROUND BROKEN FOR COMMUNITY MAUSOLEUM

Ground was broken for the Community Mausoleum to be built in Cedar Hill Cemetery, on Wednesday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock, the first shovel full of earth being turned by Mayor H. A. Atherton in the presence of Director of Public Service Gilbert, Superintendent Grilly of the cemetery, Chas. R. Eymour, general manager, J. H. Shaw, W. Z. King of the Licking Mausoleum Co., construction Co., and a number of others who are interested in the project.

In making preliminary reservations in the building the company stated that work would begin before June 1st of this year, but the excellent weather conditions as well as the great number of reservations which have already been made have warranted that operations should start a couple of months sooner than intended.

The contract has been awarded to O. J. Hawkins and Son, the work being under the personal supervision of Fred A. Hawkins, who has recently completed the John J. Carroll building in Hudson avenue. Mr. Hawkins says that this building as shown by the plans and specifications is the best that can be built. The walls are to be of granite and the structural members from footings are to be of reinforced concrete. There has never been an estimate of the life of either granite or reinforced concrete; the former has endured since before man had record and the latter, experience shows, becomes stronger with age. Between all exterior and interior walls there is an air chamber which is ventilated at the top and bottom to the outside air through bronze grills. The crypts, which are also of reinforced concrete construction and enameled white on the inside, have a very elaborate non-mechanical ventilating system by which fresh air is supplied to each crypt without connection with any other. The interior walls and facing of the crypts are of Alabama marble and will present a beautiful appearance. All doors, gates, grills and metal work are to be of solid bronze. The plan of the building is of a square cross and will face the Southeast, in which manner some sunlight will strike every wall at certain times of the year.

Mr. Hawkins says that there are absolutely no materials to enter into the construction in which there is no depreciation neither wood, plaster, tin, brick, tile or any other materials liable to depreciate in value or change their original texture are to be used. The floor is to be of promenade tile bedded in asphalt.

It is the intention to get the building far enough along before winter to permit of the interior work during the winter, finishing the building complete for dedication early next spring.

ORGANIZE TO SEEK TREASURE

Church Loot of Gold and Precious Stones: Said to Be on Island of Pinaki.

Papeete, Tahiti, (Special Islander)—Interest has once more been aroused in the treasure reported to be buried in the island of Pinaki, one of the coral islands to the eastward of Tahiti, and a new association has been formed in Tahiti to seek for the treasure. The story is that during the confusion of a revolution in Peru some sixty or more years ago a church was looted of a rich treasure of gold and precious stones by four men who succeeded in getting in to the island where they buried it in a safe place, afterward making their way to Panama.

Having secured a schooner they returned to Peru, recovered the treasure and sailed to the westward intending to make Australia their destination. The fact that they possessed no papers presented an insurmountable obstacle to their gaining entrance to any port without right investigation. So they determined to bury the treasure on an uninhabited island in the Paumotu group, until such time as they could charter in Sidney a schooner for some alleged trading enterprise and, sailing with proper papers, return to the island.

When afterwards in pursuance of this plan, they reached the coast of Australia they sought an unrequited part of the coast, scuttled their schooner and coming ashore in the guise of shipwrecked sailors, endeavored to make their way to Sidney by land. Two only by name, Killrain and Brown arrived in Sidney; the other two having been killed in a fight with bush natives. Such is the story of the burial of the treasure.

The tale of the attempts for the recovery begins in 1912 or 1914 when one day on the streets of Sidney a man by the name of Thompson was accosted by an elderly beggar seeking alms. On giving the man a small sum Thompson was surprised by the request for his name and address, which he carelessly gave and thought no more about it.

Some time later he was summoned to one of the hospitals of the city. There he discovered that the one who had asked for him was the beggar whom he

CLAIM JAPANESE SMUGGLE OPIUM

Tokio.—Discussing the charges made in the Diet that Japanese are guilty of opium smuggling into China, the Yumfuri Shinbun says the fact that the smuggling of opium and morphine had never been made a subject of public discussion is a spite the frequent and strong sentences uttered against must be regarded as a national disgrace greater than the smuggling itself. Owing to the repeated calling of attention to it by foreigners the Japanese government made up its mind to abolish the opium monopoly system in force at Tientsin and Dulien but on account of the opposition set up by those who are interested in the opium traffic the authorities are trying to maintain the monopoly system under the plea of gradual prohibition.

GRANGE TO DISCUSS COUNTY FARM BUREAU

The farm bureau question will be discussed "pro and con" at the meeting of the Grange at Brownsville Tuesday evening at 8 o'clock. Ray Barnes and Jesse Orr will speak in "Why I am a Member." George Orr and S. S. Cople will speak on "Why I am Not a Member."

Other members on the program are: Influence of Good Pictures on our lives, Mrs. Mahal Hamilton. When and How to Spray, W. C. Hamilton.

April Food Luncheon—Committee in charge, Florence Winegarner, Mrs. Lawrence, Miss Bode. Music, Mrs. O. M. Cooperidge. Journal, Margaret Winegarner, Edgar Smith, Lee Johnston.

KEPT PISTOLS IN HANDS; BUT FOES SLAY COMMANDER.

Edward violence failed to save the life of a British Chief Intelligence Officer in the island of Togo. Lt. J. M. Newman, travel lecturer, who went to Togo to collect material and pictures for the April issue of The Menorah Magazine, applied to Colonel Wilson at his office in Dublin Castle for permission to pass all British troops. The officer kept his hands on the butt of his automatic pistol during the interview. He apologized for his conduct saying that his two predecessors had been killed on the job. Ten days later, he, too, was killed in office.

CLAIM JAPANESE SMUGGLE OPIUM

Tokio.—Discussing the charges made in the Diet that Japanese are guilty of opium smuggling into China, the Yumfuri Shinbun says the fact that the smuggling of opium and morphine had never been made a subject of public discussion is a spite the frequent and strong sentences uttered against must be regarded as a national disgrace greater than the smuggling itself. Owing to the repeated calling of attention to it by foreigners the Japanese government made up its mind to abolish the opium monopoly system in force at Tientsin and Dulien but on account of the opposition set up by those who are interested in the opium traffic the authorities are trying to maintain the monopoly system under the plea of gradual prohibition.

The newspaper continues: "Late the opium and morphine traffic has been made the subject of discussion in the Diet but it is regrettable to observe that the matter has been considered merely from the standpoint of official discipline and no voice has been raised from the standpoint of national prestige and morality."

If Japan has been kept free from the evil of opium smoking it is largely because of the terrible lessons taught by China and for this reason, if no other, Japan should have taken the lead in saving the Chinese from the thrall of opium smoking. Despite this fact Japan has been conniving at, if not actually encouraging the acts of her nationals which have tended to bring her name into disrepute. For the sake of the national reputation, it is advisable that the government should prohibit the traffic in the poison once and for all."

LETTING FARM GO TO SEED IS PROFITABLE.

The United States is now the seed garden of the world. According to a writer in The Menorah Magazine for April, more seed is being grown in this country than in Europe. A single company in California sows more than 2000 acres to seed plants. One sweet pea bed is 300 acres long. There is a seed market at Toledo, Ohio, where brokers speculate in clover seed "utures" as wheat is gambled on in the Chicago pits. Millions of flowers are grown in the seed industry but never plucked.

AUTOMOBILE OWNERS PLAN BATTLE AGAINST THIEVES

Automobile owners from all parts of the state will gather in Cincinnati, April 22 and 23, for the annual convention of the Ohio State Automobile Association. Delegates from the scores of automobile clubs located in different counties will discuss pending legislation, highway development and traffic regulation.

The Atwood bill, requiring a bill of sale or abstract of title, to curb automobile thefts will be a principal topic. Motorists recognize that to reduce the chances of disposing of stolen property will decrease the incentive for theft, and the compulsory registration of title is expected to be an effective weapon against automobile thieves. More than $2,000,000 worth of automobiles were stolen in Ohio last year. Sessions will be held at the Sinton hotel, and the speaking program will include national and state officials. Among those scheduled for talks are: Lt. Gov. Clarence J. Brown, Secretary of State Harvey C. Smith, State Highway Commissioner L. C. Herrick, State Treasurer Rudolph W. Archer, Chief Justice Carrington Marshall of the state supreme court; David Jameson, New Castle, Pa., president of the American Automobile Association; A. G. Batchelder, Washington, chairman of the executive board of the national organization; President F. F. Bentley, Warren, and Secretary Charles C. Jones, Columbus, of the Ohio State Automobile Association; Fred H. Caley, chairman of the state association's legislative committee, and Raymond Beck, chairman of the good roads board. The Cincinnati Motor Club will be host to the convention.

BELIEVES MAN IS POLYGENETIC

Los Angeles, April 15.—Dr. Charles Hill-Tout, Ph.D., of the executive committee of the American Institute of Research, member of the Anthropological Institute of America, Fellow of the Royal Society of Canada, and of the Royal Anthropological Institute of Great Britain, is preparing a report to be submitted to the Royal Society of Canada at its May meeting, containing what he asserts is evidence that man is polygenetic instead of monogenetic, as evolutionists have long thought.

Dr. Hill-Tout says he discovered his proofs while working upon a clew found in a survey of the skulls of apes and anthropoids. He concludes his report will show that nature, when man was in the making, turned out more than one specimen, as science always claimed, in the case of the anthropoids. Hitherto evidence has been lacking that man was not descended from one line.

Dr. Hill-Tout says he discovered his eliminates completely two links in the chain of the pedigree of man, who, developing along opposite lines, has perverted his ancestral characters and attained a brain expansion which has given him the sovereignty over all other forms of life.

"This theoretical conception of hominidus precession, the ancestor common to man and the apes, is shown to be founded in fact by the discovery of the most interesting of all our fossil human remains, Eoanthropus, or the 'Dawn Man,'" says Dr. Hill-Tout.

"This ancient man roamed over the southern downs of England when the British Isles were a part of the mainland of Europe at the close of the Pliocene period. It probably antedates by some thousands of years Eoanthropus, or the 'Dawn Man.' The latter Eoanthropus relatively higher developed in his cranial capacity is greater than that of many of the men of the backward races of today. Most of its cranial characters are remarkably modern in type, having much the same contour as that of the young anthropoids. That is a primitive type we learn, for while it possesses a well-developed brain, it also has the chubbiness and the canine teeth of the anthropoids.

Indeed it differs from the young anthropoids only in its larger cranial capacity. It is clear from the evidence both of the hominid-like characters of the 'dawn man' and the young anthropoids that the low-brained Pithecanthropus was not a primitive type, but rather, he followed an anthropoid development rather than the human and so lost his chance with the human race.

"The discovery of men with modern cranial characters, living thousands of years earlier than the 'dawn man' and the discovery of the 'dawn man' and Eoanthropus, in 1912 in England, forces us to give up the monogenetic origin of man and accept the polygenetic origin.

"For, according to that great biologist, more commonly known as 'Darwin,' we see why the skulls of the young of the Neanderthal race and the young of the anthropoids or hominid-like apes are so different from those of their parents. The principle expressed by this law signifies that the actual members of the race—and this is where the law throws light upon the problems under consideration—that the young of any species represent more truly and closely than the actual members of the race from which they spring."

A large collection of photographs will be used by Dr. Hill-Tout in illustrating his theories.

Moundsville, W. Va.—"I had taken doctor's medicine for nearly two years because my periods were irregular, came every two weeks, and I would suffer with bearing-down pains. A lady told me of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and how much good it had done her daughter, so I took it and now I am regular every month and have no pain at all. I recommend your medicine to everyone and you may publish my testimonial, hoping that the Vegetable Compound does some other girl the good it has done me."—Mrs. GEORGE TEGARDEN, 915 Third Street, Moundsville, W. Va.

How many young girls suffer as Mrs. Tegen did and do not know where to turn for advice or help. They often are obliged to earn their living by toiling day in and day out no matter how hard the pain they have to bear. Every girl who suffers this way should try Lydia E. GREEK REVERSES IN ASIA MINOR MAY CAUSE PREMIER'S FALL: SMYRNA THREATENED AS GREEKS CALL MORE MEN TO COLORS

View of the city and harbor of Smyrna; Gen. Demetrios Gounaris, and map showing Greek army penned up at Brusa, and the imperiled Smyrna zone.

Serious military reverses in Asia Minor will result in the immediate overthrow of Premier Calogieropoulos' cabinet, a report from Athens says. General Gounaris is mentioned as the next premier. The rank and file of the army are expressing dissatisfaction with General Gounaris owing to his flamboyant promises to capture Angora in a month, and the entire government may fall, including King Constantine.

The French officials learn the entire hold of the Greeks in Asia Minor is threatened, even including Smyrna occupation, owing to the dissatisfaction among the troops and the threatening attitude of the Turkish population at Litoral, which greatly outnumber the Greeks.

It is believed if the nationalist leader, Kemal, is able to exploit Smyrna he can drive the Greeks to the sea. Cavalry officers and noncommissioned officers between 1901 and 1913 have been called to the colors by the Greeks.

ed in getting possession of the shrines only after losing two lives. Some 25 persons altogether were injured.

The old Sikhs held a meeting at Lahore the day before the attack at Nankana which, it had been rumored, had been impending for some time. Apparently the reformers numbered about 200. Just how the fight began is not known, says the report.

The Deputy Commissioner who started his investigation the day that the fight began, says that the Sikhs had been in the vicinity of the shrine for some time. The fight had taken place inside a small shrine enclosure, which was commanded by houses on all sides.

"The inquiry into the facts," concluded the report, "was hampered by the fact that the Sikhs had been in the vicinity of the shrine for some time. The fight had taken place inside a small shrine enclosure, which was commanded by houses on all sides."

Before leaving Constantinople many travelers are obliged to give large sums to get visas which later may be declared invalid in other countries.

Mrs. J. H. K. Polly, wife of an American business man living in London, was recently a victim of this latter while traveling on the Orient Express, running from here to Paris. When the train was passing from Bulgaria into Serbia, at 2 o'clock in the morning, an official in uniform representing himself as Serbian inspector, demanded to see her passport. Informed her that the visa obtained at the Serb Legation in Constantinople was invalid and ordered her to leave the train. After protestations, he consented to accept $25 to let her continue her journey. She had already paid $20 for visas of her passport.

Another form of swindle results from the general European laws against taking large sums of silver, gold or paper money of a given country into another. To prevent such traffic governments place officials at frontiers who demand of each traveler the sum of foreign cash on his person. If he declares anything above the equivalent of $20, or some such modest sum, it is taken and the plan of carrying only checks or drafts and thus avoid this annoyance.

The oldest form of travel swindle takes the form of trains stopping due to lack of coal. Then the train crew plays cards until the passengers take up an endowment to pay for the coal. This swindle has been improved upon. An official takes up tickets, and then a second official, who denounces the first one as a fraud, makes the passengers pay a second time. This is confined to local trains.

RIVAL FACTIONS OF SIKHS IN BATTLE
London.—The fighting at Nankana, India, in which about 130 persons were killed, was restricted to rival factions of Sikhs, according to a report just made public at the India Office.

The rioters were described as old Sikhs and reformers, the former of whom included the managers of an important and richly endowed shrine. That at Nankana is the wealthiest of them, its annual income, derived largely from landed estates, amounting to tens of thousands of pounds. The Mahants, who are in charge of such shrines regard themselves as life tenants of the estates and seem in their possession as long as they discharge their religious duties.

The reformers opposed the view. They alleged that desirable abuses exist in connection with the shrines. The revenues, they contend, belong to the Sikh community and should be administered under its control. But to the reform party, says the report there have attached themselves a number of thieves as well as enemies of the government.

The attacks on what is termed the vested interests of the old Sikhs began with the occupation of certain shrines at the Golden Temple of Amritsar. The Mahants there are in charge of such shrines to being ousted from some minor shrines at other places.

But at the end of January a serious fight occurred at Tarn Taran in the Amritsar district. A band of reformers which suddenly appeared there succeeded in getting possession of the shrines only after losing two lives. Some 25 persons altogether were injured.

The old Sikhs held a meeting at Lahore the day before the attack at Nankana which, it had been rumored, had been impending for some time. Apparently the reformers numbered about 200. Just how the fight began is not known, says the report.

PREACHER AND SOLDIER HONORED

Impressive Funeral Services Are Held For Dr. C. J. Baldwin Who Is Buried In Maple Grove Cemetery Friday.

(Special to the Advocate.)
Granville, April 15.—Classes were dismissed Friday afternoon in Denison university that a fitting tribute of respect be paid the memory of Dr. C. J. Baldwin, who for many years served on the board of trustees, and who was pastor of the Granville Baptist church for 1886-1913. In recognition of his distinguished services as an officer in the Civil War and later as chaplain of the local chapter of the G. A. R., the body was in state in the church from 2 o'clock Friday afternoon with military guard furnished by Colonel Clark, U. S. A. At 2 o'clock impressive funeral services were held in the church where for 27 years Dr. Baldwin had delivered his sermons and prayer meeting messages. The pastor, Rev. H. T. Houff, officiated and paid tribute to the soldierliness of the man, dwelling on his splendid military record as a soldier of the Republic from 1863 to the close of the civil war, as well as a soldier of the cross. Entering as a young college boy, he was breveted major at the close of the war, having taken active part in 13 battles.

Dr. C. L. Williams, an associate and colleague for many years, spoke in appreciation of Dr. Baldwin's services to the church, to the community and to the college. Dr. Williams said that like St. Paul, Dr. Baldwin magnified his office of Christian minister by fully realizing his dignity and power meeting men, women and children in making careful preparation for it having graduated from Colgate university and from Rochester Theological seminary; he magnified his office also by giving himself exclusively and wholeheartedly to it. Dr. Williams said his chief distinction was that of a preacher of Christian truth. "He was a remarkably learned man and at the same time a virile and creative thinker, even an old and familiar truth was presented in such a way that it had the freshness of the mystic dew."

"He had a wonderful insight into spiritual truth. He was a seer—and what he had seen, he could say in language the most simple and beautiful. Dr. Baldwin was a broad-minded man—utterly free from petty sectarianism, a loyal Baptist, he was more—a was a Christian gentleman. Nothing in the personal character of this great preacher was more prominent or more beautiful than his character—always ready to bestow commendation, he was equally ready to withhold censure."

Dr. Baldwin, on his retirement, showed in a remarkable way that he knew how to be an expiator—his successor having had no more arduous journey than his ministerial course on his retirement. The effect of his preaching will be felt and its influence on hundreds now scattered over the earth will go on and on. To wit under such preaching week after week was in itself a liberal education.

A quartet, composed of Mrs. T. S. Johnson, Mrs. Ebaugh, John Ehlman and Kenneth Ullman sang two hymns, with Mrs. Darrow at the organ. The long procession to Maple Grove cemetery was headed by the military escort, and after the committal service had been read by Rev. H. T. Houff, taps were sounded.

Mrs. C. D. Coons presided at the annual meeting of the Women's Social union Friday afternoon. Reports were called for, and business finished and officers for the coming year elected as follows: President, Mrs. C. D. Coons; vice president, Mrs. Harold Lamson; secretary, Mrs. Thornton; treasurer, Mrs. Obitus. The annual church dinner was held in the hall of the Denison Conservatory, Ralph Mead, violinist, and William Vogel pianist.

Miss Helen Baldwin left today for Carbonate, Ill., to resume her duties as professor of Latin in the normal college. Dr. James P. Baldwin left for Granville where he occupies the chair of history in Vassar college.

Mrs. W. H. Johnson, who has been the guest of Mrs. R. P. McCutcheon this week, left today for her home in Columbus.

Officiating are under way for Officiating "Orpheus" to be presented April 23 by Delta Omicron and Sinfonia musical societies.

A. Norris, assessor, commencing Monday will be in the mayor's office from 9 to 11 a. m. and from 1 to 5 p. m. Taxpayers who will fill their personal tax blanks will be sworn free of charge. Extra blanks may be secured at this office.

Prof. and Mrs. August Oederrecht have as their house guests, Prof. and Mrs. Oederrecht of Arlington.

Rev. and Mrs. S. B. Badden, who sailed from Calcutta over a month ago, landed in Boston Wednesday and will spend Sunday in Rochester, N. Y., before coming to Granville to visit their mother, Mrs. E. H. Badden.

The Denison board of trustees will convene on Tuesday. An invitation to dinner in Shepardson Commons has been extended to all the members.

Dr. W. B. Owen, who addressed the Phi Beta Kappa society, Thursday, has been recipient of many social attentions during his stay. He was dinner guest last evening of President and Mrs. C. W. Chamberlain and left last night for his home in Chicago.

President C. W. Chamberlain returned Thursday noon from a vacation trip which included a meeting of the instruction committee of the Denison board, the glee club concert and reception at the Baptist church of the Methodist in Cleveland; a meeting of the Ohio board of education in Lorain; and a banquet at Pittsburgh; visit to Utica on business and a meeting of the Denison building committee in New York City on Wednesday.

While in New York Dr. Chamberlain attended church on Fifth avenue where he was ushered to the pew of a gentleman who preceded him a comrade of Dr. Baldwin in the Civil War, and who sent messages of greeting to his old comrade.

Sunday morning at 10:30 in the Baptist church the pastor, Rev. H. T. Houff, in commemoration of the 27 years' pastorate of Dr. C. J. Baldwin will give a memorial address on "The Importance of Being a Minister." At the 7:30 p. m. service he will preach on "Our Inadequate Ways."

At the Presbyterian church Sunday, Pastor Rev. Emanuel Breeze will take

BRITISH OPPOSE SALE OF MERCHANT SHIPS

London.—The British Chamber of Shipping has decided to oppose the sale to foreigners of any of the merchant ships surrendered by the Germans. It holds that under no circumstances should any of them be sold back to the Germans. A vote to that effect was taken at a meeting of the Council just held to decide what disposition should be made of the vessels remaining in the possession of the British government.

Lord Incheape, who has been entrusted with the sale of the vessels on behalf of the Reparations Commission, said that 163 German ships had been privately disposed of to British nationals, but a good number still remained to be sold and the demand for them owing to the slump in the shipping trade had slackened. It had been suggested that some arrangement might be considered whereby the market for the ships might be thrown open to the whole world.

One Newcastle shipowner affirmed that England would be disgraced in the eyes of the world, if after all her commerce had suffered from German submarines, any of the German ships were allowed to go back to Germany, particularly at the present prevailing low prices.
